About Your

The success and sustainability of the JROTC STEM Leadership Academy relies on partnerships with local education, industry, and community leaders. We want to know more about your possible partners.

28. What are the local colleges and universities that could be potential host sites for the Academy? Describe existing relationships, if any, with any of these possible partners.

29. What are the local or regional companies that employ STEM workers? Do you have any existing relationships with any of these possible partners? Tell us about these possible partners.

Tell Us
Your Concerns

The JROTC STEM Leadership Academy is a hybrid STEM+Workforce JCLC camp that includes 3 distinct and interrelated components that each require approximately equal time commitments: JCLC activities; workforce field trips and guest speakers; and STEM curriculum. The Academy is designed to include all requirements of the district's traditional JCLC camp and thus could replace your traditional JCLC with the JROTC STEM Academy.

31. What, if any, are your concerns about making a shift away from your traditional JCLC model to the JROTC +STEM Academy model?

32. What is the likelihood your JROTC Cadre will embrace changes to your current JCLC program so that it incorporates the required components of the model?

33. What else should we know about your district, your JROTC program, or your community that might help us to select your district to replicate this unique model?
